MORALS ATTACKED

Corruption in Office, Incompetency, Among Offenses Charged in Bill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Oklahoma City, Okla.—The investigating committee of the Oklahoma house today will report twelve articles of impeachment against Governor C. Walton. The articles will allege corruption in office, incompetency and offenses involving moral turpitude. The committee announced with additional indictments to be rendered within two days.

It is believed that with the house meeting at 1:30 o'clock balloting on the accusations will begin by tonight or early tomorrow.

Members of the committee said that if any one of the charges is sustained, M. E. Trapp, lieutenant governor, will become acting governor by midnight tomorrow night.

The senate will be prepared to take up the impeachment should any charge be sustained. Within two days, senate leaders say, with the final verdict to be reached within ten days.

Governor Walton will face the accusations through to the end, he declared last night. "There is nothing to report," he told the Associated Press when informed of rumors that he intended to resign today. "Such rumors are merely to weaken my friends and supporters and stampede them. I have no intention of resigning—never have even contemplated such a thing."

House Cleaning Time

is the best time of the year to dispose of the old clothing that has accumulated during the past months. In every woman's attic there are several seemingly useless articles of clothing that are really worth selling.

Mrs. B. was looking over the vast number of articles that had accumulated and decided that her winter coat was the one to sell. She wisely consulted the Want Ad Girl at the Gazette, who is always in a position to know just what is selling. Upon being advised, Mrs. B. inserted the following ad in the Want Ad Columns.

LADIES' FLUSH COAT WITH FUR COLLAR FOR SALE. $5. PHONE

The ad ran several times without any results. The ad girl called Mrs. B. "I am sure your coat will sell if you will give it another trial. Mrs. B. and finally Mrs. B. decided to try one more. This time the coat sold immediately. That is one of the many instances where perseverance, completed an apparently unsuccessful sale.

PHONE 2500

Ask Mary Brown for want ad information. She will gladly advise you as to what is selling and how best to offer your particular commodity. Be sure to give the Want Ad a fair trial and you will be among the long list of successful Want Ad users.

Webb Exonerated in Death of Wife

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] White Plains, N. Y.—Charles Webb was completely exonerated today by the grand jury which investigated the alleged mysterious death of his wife several weeks ago.

West Chester county authorities now possess evidence that a crime was committed in connection with the death of Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb, $3,000,000 heiress who died at the West Chester-Biltmore Country club last month.

That statement was made last night by a county official, who said he might be quoted but asked that his name be withheld. He stated that the new grand jury pointed toward one man. Today the grand jury is expected to hand down a presentment but the case will be continued until the next session.

The problem now is not whether a charge may be lodged against the man, the official said, "but rather which of several charges will best hold water in court. It is a question of degree of criminality. Mrs. Webb came to her death in some public manner. She was on the road to recovery from her illness. The big question is what happened to Mrs. Webb on September 5 when she was taken by the sudden and mysterious illness."

REPORT STEAMER SINKING AT SEA

Fruit Company Vessel in Frantic Radio Calls for Rescue.

[BULLETIN.] Boston.—"and crew all well," said a message received here this afternoon from the steamer Sun Gil, by way of Colon. The message added that the vessel was from the Atlantic and continued at its present strength.

New York.—The United Fruit company steamer San Gil out of Boston for Havana, Colon and Port Limon, reported by radio at 5:30 this morning that she was sinking in heavy seas southwest of Jamaica. She gave her position as latitude 18.32 north, longitude 81.20 west.

The message, received by the International Wireless station at Hampton, N. Y., said:

"Weather heavy. Pounding to pieces. Passengers taking to boats. Heavy sea. No hope."

It then gave the position. The radio station immediately sent out the call "QRT" signaling all other stations to stop sending. Fifteen minutes later another call was received from the San Gil.

"Help quick."

The message was broken off after the first words and no more was received.

The radio station at East Hampton immediately started broadcasting the help call to ships at sea. Answers were received from the steamship Portia and from the steamship Pastora. The latter vessel answered that she was on her way to rescue the steamer.

HOG PRICES UNDER QUIZ BY WALLACE

Ratio With Corn Figures Out of Line; U. S. Seeks Reason.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington.—Investigation as to whether prevailing low prices being paid for hogs are the result of influences, being made by Secretary Wallace.

Over a period of 50 years the secretary has found, the value of 100 pounds of hogs has been approximately the equivalent of 1 bushel of number two corn at Chicago prices, but the price has fallen to such an extent as compared with the rising prices of corn that the ratio is out of line.

Hogs closed last week around $7 per 100 pounds for the average of bulk of sales, while corn closed at $1.07 a bushel. The low price of hogs for the week was $6.55, for the week June 11-16, when corn sold at $4 cents. There was a gradual increase in prices until the week of September 10-15, when the average price for hogs was $10.55.

Corn sold that week at an average of 89 cents. In the last month hog prices have declined more than $1.50 a hundred pounds while the price of corn has increased 10 cents a bushel.

Eckman Testifies, Grilled by State

[BY STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

First Picture of Adolph Eckman

Eckman—Fitz was looking to come back in and as he started back I picked up the gun and it went off. I didn't intend to fire the gun. I didn't even know it was loaded. I had an idea that it showed I could scare him away. I thought if he got back in the house he would carry out his threat to kill me all.

In these words, Adolph Eckman, 54, Swedish farmer of Sharon township, pleaded to the Walworth county circuit court jury, trying him for first degree murder, how he killed Carl Fritz, Johnstown, at the Eckman farm July 15, 1922.

The explanation probably forms the basis of the plea for acquittal which Eckman's attorneys will make to the jury at the conclusion of the trial Monday or Tuesday, and came as a climax to defendant's life story, his years of friendly relations with Fritz, the enemy which arose when the Johnstown farmer is alleged to have accused Eckman of stealing his gun and the tragic affair at the Walworth county farm on that beautiful Sunday in July.

27 MORE BUSHELS FROM SPRAYED SPUDS

Simon Riestorfer, route 12, Janesville, has found that it pays to spray potatoes. In co-operation with the county agricultural agent, he has sprayed 27 bushels more per acre than the unsprayed plot. It took Mr. Riestorfer one hour to spray an acre with a power sprayer. The cost of the material was 45 cents per acre for each spray. Four applications of spray material were given during the summer. The sprayed plot yielded at the rate of 123 bushels per acre, while the unsprayed plot yielded at the rate of 96 bushels per acre. This yield gives Mr. Riestorfer a good profit for his work.

The 40-acre plot in the center of the farm was carried on under the supervision of Prof. Griffith Richards, College of Agriculture, and R. T. Glasco, county agent. It yielded 376 lbs. 18 per cent acid phosphate plus 3 tons lime—42.7 bushels of barley. The 376 bushels of acid phosphate plus 3 tons lime—42.7 bushels of barley. The 376 bushels of acid phosphate plus 3 tons lime—42.7 bushels of barley.

TEACH AMERICAN PLAN, HYER'S PLEA

Inform Pupils Early So They Won't Be Misled Later, Urges Educator.

Walworth county teachers were urged to be more careful about teaching the fundamentals of American government, in an address by President Frank S. Hyer, White-water, at a meeting in the Elkhorn high school.

"We ought to teach somewhere in our school course the fundamental principles, so that these boys and girls will not be easily misled by demagogues when they grow up," said President Hyer. "The first point that should be made clear is that this nation is a democracy, not a democracy. We are a democratic people, but our government is a republic, and must remain so in order to perpetuate the freedom that our Constitution guarantees. We should endeavor to give our boys and girls a better understanding of the meaning of freedom, as guaranteed by the Constitution. While I have a right to believe as I wish religiously, I may not practice anything that is contrary to law, nor have I a right to prescribe a religious test for others."

150 Teachers Attend.

About 150 teachers were in attendance at the all day meeting held under the auspices of the Walworth County Teachers' association. Supt. Charles J. Jahr, Elkhorn, presided. Sectional meetings were held during the forenoon. Miss Amelia Kuhn, Elkhorn, presided at the sectional meeting for the primary teachers. Miss Sarah Francis gave a class demonstration in reading in the primary teachers' section. Miss McGowan, Delavan, sixth grade teacher, gave a demonstration in geography in the upper grade teachers' section. High school teachers had a class demonstration in directed study by Miss Mary Dunn.

Miss Maybelle Bush, assistant superintendent, Kenosha schools, gave an instructive address on the subject of "How to Study." Mrs. Florence Hyde, Janesville, gave a short talk at the afternoon session, explaining the plan and purpose of the Gazette community department and Good Times clubs, and the co-operation offered to schools. Good Times club materials for schools were on exhibit and attracted much interest between sessions.

Jahr Again Heads Ass'n.

Supt. Charles Jahr was re-elected president of the association, which includes rural, suburban and city school teachers. The following were other officers: Vice-President, William Whitewater and Luke Genova. These points have local associations. Miss Mabel Rosenbauer was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Delegates to the state convention were chosen as follows: Principal Russell M. Kutz, Walworth; Principal Herbert Marsh, Genoa; Miss Constance Beckwith, Elkhorn.

Northwestern to Raise $5,000,000

Northwestern university alumni in Wisconsin have launched a campaign to raise $5,000,000 toward the $5,050,000 fund which their alma mater is seeking for endowment and new buildings. The drive is based on the number of alumni residents in the state, it being assumed each alumnus will subscribe $275 and each alumna $250. It is expected to complete the campaign by Nov. 24, homecoming day.

Dr. Wayne A. Munn, Janesville, is chairman for this city. The state campaign organization is as follows: Dr. W. W. Weststrand, Milwaukee, chairman; Halbert D. Jenkins, Milwaukee, secretary; George B. Goodwin, Milwaukee, publicity representative; Mrs. R. W. Eitel, women's representative. H. A. Moehlebach, formerly of Clinton, is a member of the state committee.

ALL TRANSFORMERS IN CITY INSPECTED

Periodic inspection of all transformers in the business and residential districts is again being made by the line department of the Janesville Electric company. The work is done each year to insure that proper sized transformers are provided to take care of the yearly increase in load. The company issues warning against the use of pennies or metal strips in place of standard fuse wire, as this frequently puts out the transformer's supply for an entire neighborhood.

made into this afternoon. Judge E. E. Golden, however, is expected to take some time in going over the evidence before presenting his instructions to the jury, so it is probable the jury will not be given the case until sometime Tuesday, possibly in the morning.

Trembling, Says Eckman.
When court opened at 10 a. m. Monday, Eckman was questioned further by his attorney, M. O. Mouat, Janesville. It was brought out that he was trembling when the gun was worked off and killed Fritz. On cross-examination, Eckman was asked concerning what he did at the jail in Elkhorn where he was taken after being arrested by Sheriff Hal Wylie. He said he went to sleep and was awakened when District Attorney Alfred Godfrey called and questioned him. Mr. Godfrey asked him if on the night of the shooting he did not play cards with others in the jail. To this Eckman replied he did not remember.

Mr. Godfrey then asked him about his interview with him in the jail and whether or not he was asked where he was struck by Fritz and at that time he did not indicate the region of his left shoulder.

Did Not Remember.
To this he also replied that he did not remember. A moment before the state, Mr. Godfrey had asked him the same question as to where he was struck and he indicated his back below the belt. The district attorney then asked:

"When you came into the kitchen what did you do?" referring to the time when Eckman came into the room and found Fritz attacking his wife, as Eckman has previously testified.

"I told him to get out," Eckman answered.

It was brought out that Eckman did not pick up anything and strike Fritz at that time.

"Why didn't you hit him with the gun? You didn't have the gun when you first went out?"

"I don't believe I had it," Eckman answered.

"You didn't grab him by the throat?"

"I can't remember—I wasn't quite awake, at the time."

Gun in Clothes Closet.
Then the district attorney got down to the gun and asked:

"Where was this gun on the day the shooting took place?"

"Where was the gun, just off the bedroom, which adjoins the kitchen."

Mr. Eckman pointed it out on the diagram of the home, when you first saw your wife and Fritz?"

"I walked up to the stove and told him to get out. I can't remember whether I had the gun or not. I know I had the gun."

"Did you come rushing in and do anything to him?"

"No, I had the gun and thought to scare him out with it."

"Then you went right after the gun, Mr. Eckman?"

"I can't remember. I don't remember whether I had the gun the first or second time."

At Mr. Godfrey's request, Eckman

CIVIL CASES FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT

An action was started by George Campbell against B. W. Raymond et al to quiet title on real estate.

The Citizens' bank has started suit against Leon E. Goetz on a $2,600 promissory note.

Judgment on cognovit was obtained by Christian O. Ness vs. Alvin S. Gunderson, Theodore Gunderson and Carl O. Thompson on a note for $2,266.66.

Many careful tests proved these methods effective. Then a new type-tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Now, the world over, that tooth paste is bringing a new dental era. Careful people of some 50 nations are employing it today.

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acid. It multiplies the starch digestant in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits.

Those are Nature's great tooth-protecting agents in the film. One disintegrates the film, one removes it without harmful scouring.

Dainty people—millions of them—now use a new method of teeth cleaning. It brings them whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. It will to you. Go prove this.

All must fight film

All people who want prettier teeth must fight the film. Film is that viscous coat you feel. In olden days, much of it clings and stays. Soon it becomes discolored, then forms dingy coats.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Thus cloudy teeth and tooth troubles became almost universal.

Dental science has now found and proved out ways to fight that film. One disintegrates the film, one removes it without harmful scouring.

The President and the Governors While the conference of the governors of the states accepting the invitation of the president to meet in Washington, lasted but a short time—about four hours—it was one of the most significant in the history of the nation. For from the lips of the president came an appeal which must be effective. It was first of all a great recognition on the part of the federal government that this nation is a union of states and under the constitution states have reserved rights and positions great and powerful. In his address to the state executives, the president in his first public expression, was unequivocal and explicit. He took occasion to pay his respects to those who question the 18th amendment and the laws giving it force as the voice of the people, and told them that "enforcement of the law and obedience to the law, by the very nature of our institutions, are not matters of choice in this republic."

Upon those who have opposed the 18th amendment, because they did not believe in it and who occupy executive positions, the stigma of the president's statement must rest. In "the executives are required to enforce the law," the president made it plain what the relations were between the United States and the prohibition law for the very statute of enforcement the state is made a party to that enforcement. District attorneys and other prosecuting officers are given, under and by the name of the United States, the right to ask injunctions. This is the most powerful weapon that can be invoked and the one found to be most potent in stopping illegal traffic in liquors.
"No provision of the 18th amendment or the national prohibition act contemplates any surrender of state responsibility," said the president. That it is both for the state and for the individual is emphasized. "They are binding on every inhabitant," and "trade in intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes is especially denounced," by the law. Therefore as the president looks at the question, the individual, whether he be purchaser or a trader, in intoxicants for the purpose of making money, is an offender against the law.

What the conference accomplished is a clear understanding for the American people of the attitude of the president on the question of prohibition and his proclamation to the rum runners, liquor conspirators and all the riff raff engaged in illicit liquor deals, that they will be pressed to the limit. The president has simply told the state executives that the national prohibition law makes them a party to the enforcement of that law as it does no other, and that he expects they will do their duty without political consideration.

To the president there can be no such division of the people into camps as "wet" or "dry."
"They"—the executives and officials of the government, state or national—"cannot be criticised for doing their duty." "This cannot be made a political question," is the statement of the president while telling the executives what their duty is and that the people of the country ought to know it.

In this attitude of the president the majority of the people who are not in the illegal business of buying or selling liquor in violation of the law, will concur. They constitute the militant majority of the nation. It is to them the executives must answer and the president has made it clear that the executives of the states will no longer be able to sidestep the duty set forth in the law and the constitution without guilt of neglect of a sworn obligation.

The president at one step, has made it perfectly plain that the heretofore pleasant pastime of governors and other state police officials passing the responsibility to the federal government for enforcing the liquor laws, will not only not be tolerated, but that they have been caught in the act and that the excuse does not hold water.

Governor Albert Smith's attitude, that the state had no obligation but that it was all a matter of the federal government, is fully answered. Mr.
Blaine's attitude that his opposition to the law reflects him of some duty is also rebuked. Governor Pinchot, who criticised the president, has also been called to duty in his own state, and the way is clearly pointed out how he may act to secure better enforcement by cooperation of the prosecuting officers under the plain authority vested in them by the national prohibition act.

President Coolidge has contributed a great additional force to the cause of better government in his address to the governors. It was a pity that Wisconsin was not present to hear it.

SUPER-POWER DEVELOPMENTS
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.
Washington.—A new resource and a new problem are expected to develop from a conference which Secretary of Commerce and Development called together at New York City to discuss the development of super-power. The new resource is production of water power on a greatly enlarged scale. The new problem is the question of jurisdiction and regulation which inevitably will arise from the working out of the plans discussed. Each is important and promises to occupy much public attention from now on.

Secretary Hoover told the representatives of the eastern states who attended the conference that the time is ripe for water power development on a scale which will revolutionize industry. He showed how mechanical genius has advanced electrical science to a point where things now are feasible which were undreamed of but a few years ago.

"To secure the rapid adoption of these demonstrably possible results—the greater utilization of water power," said Mr. Hoover to the conference, "is of profound public importance." Every time we chopen power and generate its production, we create new uses and we add security to production; we also increase production; we eliminate waste; we decrease the physical burden upon men. In sum, we increase the standards of living and comfort for all of our people."

Elaborating the plans, Mr. Hoover showed how the greater utilization of water power would go far toward emancipating the nation from the grip of strikes. The recent coal strikes have only threatened the comfort of the public but have stopped the wheels of industry, thereby destroying both extant and potential wealth. Not only does a coal strike stop manufacturing, but it stops or at least curtails transportation. "To be sure, strikes can occur in the power industry as well as in the coal industry, but they are less likely and would be more easily handled and overcome because a smaller number of men would be involved."

The general scheme of power production is to utilize intensively the vast water power resources of the country for the generation of electric current. This would be transmitted along cables—highways of power—to manufacturing establishments, to railroads and to all other types of consumers.

Running streams do not strike—they go on forever. The late President Harding was much interested in overcoming super-power threats of coal strikes by devising a system of turning coal into electric power at the mouths of the mines. Less coal would be necessary and transportation of it would be obviated by such a plan.

Steady production and storage of coal would be more practical than at present. Still, a strike might interrupt even the power plant's source of fuel. No such interruption could occur in the steady supply of water power.

The two schemes, it is thought, can be advantageously worked together, coal power being generated where water power is unavailable.
Widely scattered and so advantageously placed are the natural resources of the United States that where no coal mines exist, water power is not far distant and vice versa.

Mr. Hoover laid before the conference the results of a power survey of the United States. It showed that in eleven eastern states a fully developed and coordinated super-power system would result in an annual saving of 50,000,000 tons of coal. A capital outlay of $1,250,000,000 would result in an annual saving of $500,000,000.
Thus, in two years and six months, this huge expenditure would be repaid and leave a power system which would go on every year effecting such an economic saving.

The survey shows that forty per cent of the paid mileage in the east could be electrified at substantial economies. In addition to the actual cash saving in electrical operation, the railroads would be emancipated from their present dependence on coal. One of the early results of a coal miner's strike is the taking off of trains, the slowing up of freight movement and the general disorganization of transportation service.

A further advantage would be elimination of the smoke nuisance and the forest fire danger, two undesirable by-products of the coal-fired locomotive.

THE SPORTSMAN.
When you have learned to see another win
The victory you hoped yourself to gain.
To beat your failure bravely and come in
And seek not to excuse it or explain.
When you can take defeat with decent grace,
As one with sportsmen you shall have a place.
When joy of battle thrills you to the soul,
And when the game means more than paltry prize.
And a fair fight is greater than the goal,
And being true excels being overwise—
When this you've learned, and practice, come what may.
Men shall respect you and admire your play.
When you can make mistakes and pay their cost.
When you can fail and never blame your luck.
Or give some paltry reason why you lost;
Seeking to strike, can smile at being struck,
When you can take from others what you'd give,
You will have learned just how to play and live.

the other potential candidates

Noted Physician and Author
THOUSAND AND ONE CAUSES OF HEADACHE
It is enough to give one a headache just trying to list or classify the different causes of headache. Instead of a headache, let's try to disseminate a healthful idea about the headache and backache, which are traditionally associated with pelvic disease, "female trouble."
The cheering truth is that neither headache nor backache occurs in most cases of actual disease of the pelvic organs of women; in most cases of chronic headache and backache in women there is really nothing wrong with the pelvic organs. If women are more subject to headache or backache than men, it is not because of their sex.
Running over a few of the thousand and one causes of headache as likely as possible, there is the headache of exhaustion, of malaria, brain tumor, arthritis, fatigue, bad air, slight leakages from gas fittings in home or shop, constipation, overeating (which includes headache attributed to "biliousness" or, if a fancier name is preferred, "lithemia"), neural sinusitis, migraine, neuralgia, meningitis, the onset of the infectious diseases, arteriosclerosis with nephritis and high blood pressure, alcoholism ("the morning after"), eyestrain and various diseases of the eye. The excruciating headache, the so-called "nervous" headache, however, and that of neural varieties of diphtheria, and, as we agreed the other day in discussing imaginary neuritis, an indolent prevaricator who gives advice long enough to be given untruth or fancy comes in time to believe it himself. Victims of "nervous" headache or hysterical headache are in some such fix as that of a woman who ordered the vapor of fumes of gasoline by the nature of their employment suffer much from headache with more or less nausea of impairment of appetite due to gasoline poisoning. Many other poisons widely used in the industries, such as benzine, benzol, carbon disulphide, wood alcohol, sulphuric acid, and many others, are responsible for headache among workers. The risk of fatal carbon monoxide poisoning of persons breathing the air of a closed room is greatly reduced where a gasoline engine is running is now generally recognized; a throbbing

Q. How many senators have been elected president of the United States?
A. M. P.
Q. A senator, except the late President Harding, has gone directly from the senate to the White House. Gar-ret was elected president after senator-elect, but had not taken his seat.
The presidents who were senators previous to their election are as follows: James Monroe, senator from Virginia; John Q. Adams, senator from Massachusetts; Andrew Jackson, senator from Virginia; Martin Van Buren, senator from New York; William Henry Harrison, senator from Ohio; Tyler, senator from Virginia; Franklin Pierce, senator from New Hampshire; Andrew Johnson, senator from Tennessee; James Buchanan, senator from Ohio; William Henry Harrison, senator from Indiana; and Warren G. Harding, senator from Ohio.
Former President McKinley served in the house of representatives prior to his being elected governor of Ohio.
Q. Why are some playing cards called squeakers? A. M. S.
A. This term is applied to cards which are so light that they will pop printed in the corners.
Q. What is meant by mortician?
A. M.
A. The word "mortician" is a trade expression used by undertakers who are members of a certain organization. The word is in a class with the expression "real-estate," which may be used only by such real estate men as are members of a certain real estate organization. The word mortician is a derivative of the Latin word death.
Q. What president had so cold?
A. A. Your reference is evidently to President Andrew Jackson, who was frozen by a cold a few hours after being elected president. The victim explained: "I probably caught cold from shaking hands with the president's photo. The melody was called 'I got grippe.'"
Q. How long has the loganberry been grown? J. P. G.
A. It was introduced by Judge J.
H. Logan of California in 1881.
Q. How Constantinople ever been out of the hands of the Turk? M. J.
A. Constantinople was in the hands of the Romans, Greeks and Mussulmans consecutively.
Q. What is the name of the book, "Sweet Kitty Belinda"? A. T.
A. The play, "Sweet Kitty Belinda," by David Belasco, is founded on a novel called "The Bath Comedy," by Edgerton Castle.

Horoscope
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1923.
Astrologers read this as a rather hazardous day in planetary government. Mercury is in malefic aspect during the early hours, while Neptune is friendly in the evening.
Contacts should not be signed until after sunset when the aspect of Mercury changes.
Newspaper publishers have the forecast of heavy expenses and consequent losses, owing to some extrordinary duty to the public.
Messages of evil import again are presaged as coming across seas.
A London astrologer prognosticates a revolution in Russia, a terrible upheaval following the death of a man who holds governmental power, some time within the next few months.
Severe cold will be experienced in various parts of the country, hitherto accustomed to a mild climate, the next few days.
Charity will be needed in the coming months as never before. If the stars are read aright, much suffering will mark the coming winter.
Extensive strikes and labor question is foreseen for Chicago and other western cities.
Radical propaganda will be more likely to result in a hearing in the United States this season than previously and it is prophesied that dangerous organization will be effected.
The sudden death of a person having royal blood is predicted. Mannables will end their careers at an early date. One of these, a great scientist, will succumb to an accident.
The coming of November and December last August is held to be responsible for new difficulties to be experienced in France, Italy and Russia.
It should be recalled that a year ago astrologers in writing of the most important conjunction of 1922 declared that the conjunction of Mars and Saturn in the 8th degree of Libra would cause grave troubles under Libra. The conjunction culminating in the 16th degree of central longitude is supposed to affect Mt.
Elm and to be responsible for the Pacific coal war.
Persons whose birthdate it is should be especially careful of letters and writings in the coming year. Young persons must beware of unwise acquaintances.
Children born on this day may be too much inclined to express their opinions and thus make enemies.
These subjects of Scorpio are usually determined, critical and able to win high place for themselves.

Leading educators from a number

One of the outstanding figures of who are expected to attend are George Arps, dean of education at the University of Ohio; Glen Frank editor of Century magazine; Prof. L. D. Coffman; Vilhjalmur Stefansson, explorer and scientist, and Luther Bryan Gwen. Attorney General Herman

LATEST MARKET REPORT

Weekly Livestock Review

CATTLE.—Chicago. Receipts for the week were 11,000, more than the previous week and the largest for any week this year. Declines of $1 were noted in even the best grades, but the latter part of the week demand for yearlings was good and they went for $12 to $12.50. Best heavy steers brought $13 to $12.25 at the close, but most sales of weighty steers closed from $10.40 to $11.00. Sharp losses were sustained in beef cows and heifers after mid-week. Demand for the liberal supply, the decline mounting to $6@6.50. Prices ranged from $4.25@6.50.

Prices on best sausage bulls were steady during the week, but common and medium bulls declined $1@2.50. Veal calves gradually slumped during the week and at the close brought $11 to $11.25. Stockers and feeders were strong.

HOGS.—Light weight hogs suffered the most severe losses in the general week-end decline. The average closing price on hogs was $7.30, below the previous Saturday. Receipts showed a large increase over the previous week, being $1,000 more during the week. This is the largest offering for the same period in over ten years. The week's extreme top price was $8.25. The average price for the week was $7.40, a decline of $1.50 over a year ago.

SHEEP.—Bulk of sheep sales showed declines of $5@5.50 at the close, and sheep were the least sold. Choice light ewes sold for $6.00@6.50. Yearlings, while comparatively scarce, showed the decline and sold $1 below the previous week. Demand for breeders was good and the loss on them was slight. Bulk of supply brought from $6.50@7.75.

Closing lamb values were at the lowest point in two months, the decline amounting to $1.00@1.50. Natives lost as much as $1.75 or $2.00 in some cases. In between weeks showed the sharpest discounts, and were almost unsalable. The week's average price for at aged lambs was 75c under that of the previous week, standing at $2.20.

GRAIN.—Chicago Review. —Scattered selling of wheat made the market easy Monday during the early dealings. There was no demand to appear. Unsettled conditions in Germany and talk of increased Russian export received considerable notice, but apparently had little effect on prices. The opening, which ranged from 1/4c decline to a 1/2c advance, with Dec. 11 1/2% @ $1.05 1/2, and May 11 1/4% @ $1.04 1/2, was followed by a slight upturn in some cases and then by a moderate general decline.

Subsequently corn weakness acted as something of a weight on the wheat market, and so too did an increase in the S. visible supply of wheat. The close was unsettled, at same as Saturday's finish to 3/4c lower, Dec. 1 1/2% @ $1.05 1/2 and May 1 1/4% @ $1.04 1/2. Fine weather is an advantage to corn, but the market is not strong. The market closed heavy, 3/4c @ 3/4c lower, Dec. 7 1/2% @ $1.04 1/2 and May 7 1/4% @ $1.03 1/2. Oats started 1/4c higher, Dec. 12 1/2% @ $1.04 1/2 and May 12 1/4% @ $1.03 1/2. Later all months showed some loss.

Provisions were weak in line with hog values.

CUPS PRESENTED
LEAGUE WINNERSIndustrial Baseball Organizations at Final Dinner at Y. M. C. A.

Trophies won during the season were presented to the winning teams of the Industrial Baseball League at the banquet at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. Thirty men attended, including officials of the Chevrolet company, Parker Pen and Tank corps, Empire Burke and Y. M. C. A. men. Oscar Nelson of the Chamber of Commerce presided.

L. J. Stewart, manager of the Chevrolet, in his talk, expressed himself in sympathy with the movement for clean athletics and intended to encourage sports among the men in his charge. George Gillman spoke along the same lines.

The work of the Industrial Baseball League, some of its difficulties and an outline of the plans for the Industrial Baseball League which is to be started soon, where the topic of A. C. Bergman, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Steinberg gave a short talk at the opening of the meeting.

The speaker of the evening was H. R. Kellenberg, Chicago, a member of the International committee of the Y. M. C. A. His topic was "Athletics in Industry." His chief point was the fact that, while so much attention is paid to high school and college athletics, there were only four million boys in school while there are over twenty million in industry.

He said, "The statement has been made that the work now a days is done by young men. That is true only if we consider the matter of youthfulness in spirit." He stated that it is the real competition, such as is afforded by hand ball or basketball, that gives this spirit, and not raking the garden or taking a walk. He said that these were good exercises but lacked the competitive element, which builds character.

Each Man Worked
As one example of this, he said that in an industrial basketball game, one of the twenty teams had been defeated by every other team in the league and when percentages were figured out at the end of the season were the last place on the list. Regardless of this, every member of the team played every game on its schedule even though almost sure to be beaten. He gave this as an example of the character building results of a league of this kind. His slogan was, "Get everybody playing."

Presentation of Cups
The Chamber of Commerce cup was presented by Oscar Nelson, the Gazette cup by A. C. Bergman and the Y. M. C. A. cup by J. A. Steinberg. The first went to the Parker Pen team, the second to the Chevrolet and the last to the Tank Corps. They were accepted by Capt. E. J. Steinberg of the Parker Pen, Capt. Reider of the Tank Corps and L. A. Markham of the Chevrolet. Empire Burke also spoke.

Music was furnished by a trip from Milton college consisting of the Misses Zela, Ardis and Constance Bennett.

CATHOLICS HERE
TO RAISE $37,000Churches Assigned Quotas in $5,000,000 Drive to Aid Homes, Schools.

Thirty-seven thousand, five hundred dollars is the assessment for St. Mary's and St. Patrick's churches in the $5,000,000 drive being waged by the United Catholic Charities, according to Oliver J. O'Boyle, Milwaukee attorney and Catholic layman, in his talk at St. Mary's church, Sunday morning, following the three masses of Jansville's quota, $17,500 is to be raised by St. Mary's and $20,000 by St. Patrick's church, but the directors of St. Mary's have decided to contribute with the archdiocesan drive and raise $17,000 more to assist in paying the debt on the local church. The campaign committee will begin at once canvassing those of St. Mary's parish making the individual assessments according to the wage earning ability of the person assessed. Two years ago the church was able to raise $10,000 to redeem their pledges.

The local churches are included in the Milwaukee diocese, which has the largest growth in population since the La Crosse and Green Bay dioceses, according to Mr. O'Boyle.

The speaker explained that the money derived from the campaign will be used as follows: Two million to rebuild St. Francis seminary, the seminary where priests are educated, and which is inadequate to house the many young men who desire to enter the priesthood and which in the past has been too short of funds to hire the proper number of teachers, come the money and men who occupy chairs at the seminary working for small salaries; two million to maintain the many Catholic charitable institutions in the city, including homes for orphans, delinquent children and feeble minded people; our million to be held in reserve, the interest to be used for the education of children and the seminary.

Two years ago the Rev. Archbishop Sebastian G. Messner spoke in St. Mary's church on the subject of the drive, this being the first church which the bishop visited in the cause. St. Patrick's church is to open the drive at a later date, according to the Rev. Dean James P. Ryan.

STATES MUST AID LAW ENFORCEMENT

Must Hold Up Uncle Sam's Arm in Bringing Bootlegger to Justice.

By DAVID L. WRENCE
Copyright, 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.
Washington—Unprecedented in American history is the effort formally made Saturday by the federal government to obtain the co-operation of the several states in law enforcement.

Called into conference originally by the late President Harding and now asked by President Coolidge again in the name of the federal authority to help execute the prohibition laws, the outstanding fact of the session here is that the states have failed to do their duty. Whatever else the effect of the conference may be, one fact has already been emphasized above all others—that the federal government considers itself almost powerless to enforce prohibition unless the states bring to bear their hundreds of thousands of police officers and their scores of prosecuting attorneys and local judges.

Originally the framers of the constitution of the United States gave the police power, the authority to punish crime and regulate individual conduct to the states. For decades the states have jealously guarded that police power. They yielded it reluctantly and in small pieces until the eighteenth amendment came before them, when by ratifying the amendment they openly entered into a partnership with the federal government to enforce the liquor laws that might be made. The phrase "concurrent jurisdiction" was inserted in the eighteenth amendment because the advocates of prohibition felt after years of experience that the interstate traffic in liquors could only be regulated by federal law.

Changed Conditions
But the testimony of the governors attending the conference is that conditions in many states have grown worse instead of better since the eighteenth amendment was adopted and that the need for effective enforcement is greater since the supply of intoxicating liquors have been reduced.

The governors do not like to admit that the difficulties are purely local and that they cannot always be sure of a grand jury that is "dry" or of a prosecuting attorney who is in sympathy with the prohibition statutes. So the governors are somewhat inclined to feel that the federal government should help by more effective enforcement of the provisions of the existing federal statutes relating to importation and smuggling and to transportation on trains and other vehicles from one state to the other.

Patrol of Coast Lines
Unquestionably, the federal government has not obtained all the results it has desired with reference to the patrol of the large coast lines of the United States, nor has it been as effective as the prohibitionists would like to see it become in respect of the northern boundary at Canada or the southern boundary at Mexico. The state executives naturally take the position that if the federal government stopped importations and interstate commerce in liquor the problem of the individual states would be easier to solve. The federal authorities, however, take the view that the important thing is to catch the local "bootlegger" and make an example of him by severe punishment. Some states have been too much inclined to let the federal courts handle prosecutions, with the result that the dockets of the federal courts which have other important cases to try are congested and almost helpless to cope with the increasing number of violations. If the state courts would tackle the prosecutions there would be relief for the federal judiciary which is always busy with vital matters relating to other laws. But state courts are influenced by politics to some extent and local district attorneys are elective officers while federal attorneys are appointed by the president. Local politics has much to do with the vigor or lack of vigor of local officials. And this runs down through the police systems of the states, cities and towns.

Purpose of Conference
What has been attempted here is therefore not a formula for practical co-operation but an effort to build a sentiment for law enforcement. Without the will to enforce on the part of local officials there will not be any effective enforcement no matter what advice is given by the federal government to the states or vice versa.

In order to show that the purpose of the conference was more than the effectiveness of a single law, but the broad subject of law enforcement, the immigration and anti-narcotic laws were up for discussion. The conference had but a few hours. The federal government took up most of the time with speeches from the president and departmental officers. Half a day was given to it all. The purpose was publicity for law enforcement—an appeal to public opinion. The real work of co-operation must be done locally, day in and day out, by the prohibition agents of the treasury department, the United States attorneys of the department of justice and the investigating branches of the federal government, in harmony with mayors, superintendents of police and prosecuting officers. The governors can remove local officials for neglect of duty. It is to that power the present conference is looking for effective enforcement of the law and the constitution.

WISCONSIN TO ACT ON BRANCH BANKS

Madison—Motion for leave to intervene on behalf of the state of Wisconsin as defendant in error and respondent in certiorari with the state of Missouri in an action brought by that state against the First National Bank of St. Louis, was filed in the United States supreme court by Attorney General Harman L. Ekerdt, according to announcement at the attorney general's department here.

The original action seeks to enjoin the St. Louis bank from establishing branch banks in Missouri. The bank is a federal institution. The purpose of Attorney General Ekerdt's motion is to enable this state, together with a number of other states, to participate in the argument on the question of whether a state may bring action to stop operation of branch banks, it is said. Attorneys general of Illinois, Connecticut, North Dakota, Washington, Wisconsin, Iowa, Arkansas, Minnesota, Indiana and Kansas have appeared as amicus curiae (friends of the court) in support of the position taken by the Missouri attorney general. Similar questions may be raised in this state as a result of the test case, according to officials.

STOP AUTO THEFTS BY REGISTERING TITLES

Milwaukee—Automobile thefts can be checked by title registration laws in the various states, according to William J. Burns, head of the investigation bureau of the federal department of justice. The opinion was expressed to officials of the American Automobile association. In states where the title registration laws exist, including Michigan, it is said that it is difficult to sell a stolen car because of failure to furnish a clear certificate of title. The stolen vehicles often are taken into other states to escape such laws, according to officials.

The Dominating Corset —the "Lady Lyke"—Popularly Priced!

A properly fitted corset is essential if one would be well dressed. A poor corset can mar an otherwise perfect costume. Before you buy your new Fall suit or dress, be sure that you are correctly fitted in the "Lady-Lyke" Corset best suited to your figure.

These popular Corsets are made in styles to suit every type, from the slender to the stout. Most of them feature the low bust to conform with prevailing styles in dress.

Front or Back Lace Models

—You may take your choice. Front or back lace corsets, lightly or heavily boned. All are made of excellent materials under our own exclusive specifications, and are scientifically constructed throughout. "Lady-Lyke" Corsets conform to the curves of the figure, yet there is no uncomfortable constriction. They are pliable and durable—the kind of Corsets to give the utmost satisfaction.

Manufacturers and Retailers of Fine Upholstered Furniture

We find it very satisfactory both for ourselves and trade that we manufacture upholstered furniture. There is needed that assurance when one is buying upholstered furniture that they can believe ALL THEY HEAR and ALL THEY CANNOT SEE. For your assurance of quality we manufacture upholstered furniture.

We doubt that if, in all the years we have made and sold fine furniture, we have ever been able to make the public such an offer, so exceptional as to bring forth many, many favorable comments from home lovers who have seen this suite.

The Davenport

The Davenport measures 85 inches from tip to tip of the arms. The frame is of good, heavy, clear birch. Joints are glued and brought together with double dowels. Heavy glue blocks reinforce each corner. In the seat under the cushions you find thirty-six heavy oil tempered Premier springs; tied together with American manila cord. Filling is flax, moss and felt, covered with eight ounce burlap. The back has thirty-six oil tempered Nachman springs, and being fastened to metal strips, prevents sagging.

The Chair or Rocker

Whichever your choice may be, will be equally massive and have the same full spring construction. Filling of hair and felted cotton. The same excellent workmanship enters into these frames. As you see the suite pictured above it only tells in a feeble way the beauty, the enduring charm possible for it in your home.

Choose for Later Delivery

No better opportunity will ever be found to select a suite of such character and value. A small payment will reserve one for you—for that Christmas Gift to the home; or we'll deliver it now and you can arrange for divided payments if you desire. We especially invite young people over to Our House—real assurance of better furniture for less.

In Mohair $225

The mohair covering is specially selected high quality—in fact, you could not find a richer looking mohair than that which covers this suite. And you have your choice of silver taupe and beaver shades, with large medallion figured pattern. In buying this suite you can be certain, too, that you are getting the very last word in style covering—and surely that is what you are looking for.

In Velour $175

Baker's velour, favored among the most discriminating folks makes a beautiful covering for this suite. In velour covering you also have a choice—of solid taupe, solid brown, and combination blue and fawn. You will like the velour coverings, there are clever trimmings to match the cover, including tassels. Any of these suites will make your living room a comfortable, charming place for the family.
